

Protect your animals this 4th of July & always!

Here are some easy things you can do to keep your pet safe this 4th of July season and throughout the year:

- Make sure your pet is wearing tags or has a microchip to help it get back home if it runs away.
- Ask your veterinarian about sedatives if you know your pet is affected by fireworks.
- Crates can help secure your animal safely in the home and are available for loan from our county shelter's in Santa Maria at 548 West Foster Road and the Santa Barbara Shelter at 5473 Overpass Road.

Please be considerate of our four-legged friends and keep them safe this 4th of July and always!

FIREWORKS AREN'T FUN FOR EVERYONE

Companion animals can become easily scared from the loud noises of fireworks and are more likely to run away.

Prepare for fast reunification

- Collars can break or slip off, but microchips are permanent identifiers as they store your contact information and help finders return your pet
- Don't forget: A microchip is not a GPS tracking device, but rather your best chance to reunite your lost pet

Did you know that more pets go missing during firework season than any other time of year?

This year, we've returned over 400 animals home thanks to microchips!

If you know where your pet's microchip is registered, update your contact information there. If you don't know, go to 24PetWatch.com to register for free.

LILY

Missed your chance at a Texas dog? Lily is still patiently waiting for her forever home! She's an active yet affectionate 65 pound mixed-breed girl that also loves lounging around the house while left alone. Lily loves to hog all of the attention and would like to be the only pet in your home.

FERDINAND

Ferdinand was found tied out front of one of our shelters with a gaping, infected wound from the rope that was embedded in his neck. We can't imagine how much pain this poor boy must have been in, but he has been nothing but friendly with our vet team, kennel staff, and volunteers.

FRANK

Three year old Frank is a recent arrival. He spent some time hanging out in a neighborhood in Carpinteria while nearby residents provided food. He hung out in the neighborhood for a while before he made his way into our care. Frank is the most adorable dog that loves making new doggy friends at the shelter!
